Melissa loves to tell the stories of people living in Northwest, Ohio and feels honored to say she's been working in television news in Toledo for over 20 years. Her area of expertise has been in medical reporting, but she also enjoys branching out into other areas of investigative reporting.

Outside work, Melissa cherishes time with her 3 children, Madeline, Cole and Gabrielle. She also sits on the board of trustees of the Great Lakes Collaborative for Autism, where they work to fill service gaps for families living with Autism. She also helped co-found "Give Autism the Boot", a yearly collection with area rescue worker organizations that has raised almost a million dollars to date to fund programs serving our families and their beautiful children in our area!

Melissa grew up in Buffalo, New York and graduated from the SI School of Journalism from Syracuse University.

Melissa shared the story of her son Cole who was diagnosed with autism at 3. Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is diagnosed in 1 out of 59 children. While 30—50% are nonverbal with disabilities, nearly 40% are high functioning. Challenges are both financial and emotional. 12 years ago Melissa co-founded Agility Angels. This volunteer organization uses the sport of dog ability to help individuals diagnosed with ASD develop social skills, physical abilities and self-confidence.

Today, Cole is 19 and doing well. He is a student at UT.

A student of Ability Angels.

Maumee HS students Kassim Hawary, Emma Bonnicksen and German exchange student Jessica.
